BEDRIJFSOMSCHRIJVING

Activiteiten sector: Strategic Consultancy Services

Bedrijfsspecialisatie: Enterprise Architecture

Korte historische achtergrond van de onderneming: INNOCOM was founded in 1998, addressing the need in the market for an independent centre of expertise to help organisations cope with their most challenging Business and ICT issues and specifically around the Business & IT alignment.

Throughout the years, INNOCOM has positioned itself as “the architect & managers of strategic change”, assisting its clients in helping to define and execute strategic change of a transformative nature, usually but not exclusively triggered by new technology developments. From the beginning, Enterprise Architecture was identified as the key competence to be able to execute this type of strategic missions

This core competence was adopted to such an extent that INNOCOM created its own accredited Master program in Enterprise Architecture together with its academic partners. INNOCOM is the only private company in Europe that has such an accreditation.

INNOCOM today is seen by its customers as a trusted advisor, for a number of reasons:

- INNOCOM is the market leader in the area of Enterprise Architecture. We have unmatched & year-long experience in supporting EA practices across different sectors & in various contexts
- Our knowledge and experience in the domain of EA is further emphasized by our officially accredited “Master of Enterprise Architecture” program.
- Independent of any vendor & service provider
- Very senior level of all our consultants. Every INNOCOM consultant is part of the INNOCOM community and can rely on the knowledge and experience of all INNOCOM consultants whenever needed.
- Ultimate commitment: for us each customer is of utmost importance and will receive our full attention and commitment for results

Missie Experience. Trust. Common Sense.

Today’s business leaders are confronted with the challenge of staying ahead of their competition by rethinking their present strategy and enabling their organisation to swiftly yet continuously implement innovative ideas. Being agile and able of adapting their practices and ICT systems will be crucial in this process of constant innovation and improvement. INNOCOM’s mission as an independent center of expertise, is to help organisations transform towards a real competitive advantage.

Visie : At INNOCOM, we strive to deliver more than we promised and when we say we’ll embark together on a true mission with our clients, that means from start to end. We assess the feasibility of strategic ambitions, design the ultimate plan to get there and we’ll even build with the customer the foundations that will assure the right results are delivered.

Waarden :Our “black coffee credo”

If you want black coffee you should not add milk. Because no matter how much coffee you add later, it is never going to be black coffee again. We are committed to upholding the highest quality standards, a truly independent advice, a no-nonsense approach and absolute determination and focus.

This is our ultimate commitment.
